

Professor:

John Karahalidis, P.D.

Course Title:

Human Sexuality

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Examination of the biological, behavioral and cultural aspects of human sexuality with emphasis on current research.

OBJECTIVES OF THE COURSE:

1. To acquaint the student with a competent understanding of the terms, concepts and principles of human sexuality.
2. To acquire knowledge of male and female sexual anatomy, and gender similarities and differences in sexual arousal of the human sexual response.
3. Familiarity with the processes of conception, prenatal development and birth.
4. To understand the risks and treatments of various sexual transmitted diseases.
5. To acquire knowledge of various sexual dysfunction's and disorders.
6. Acquire and review recent research in the areas of sexual attitudes and behavior.
7. To understand the similarities and differences among hetero, homo and bisexuals.
8. Appreciation of the effects on sexual consumerism on our society.
9. Comprehension of basic readings in human sexuality.
10. Familiarity of relevant library and bibliographic sources.