

Experience with Nvivo John Karahalis

I found that applying NVIVO to our coding system enabled me to identify the 15 Key words we selected to utilize in our coding bins (see below). Although potential for error can still exist, I see it as an important adjunct to acquiring needed objective data in determining possible conclusions to be drawn from the data collected. I hope to become more proficient in selecting key words and/or phrases that will add valuable information to my particular area of research. I intend to make use of NVIVO as the raw data from my research project is composed. As with any resource tool the more experience I have, the better I hope to learn and benefit from its potential assets. I thank you Dr. Smith for introducing me to this beneficial program.
